

Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 31 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Showery conditions and sunny spells through the weekend.

Today:

A dry start to the day on Saturday for most of the region with sunny spells expected. Scattered showers are possible through the afternoon, though some places will stay dry. Feeling warmer compared to Friday. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:

Saturday night starting rather clear across the region, but thicker cloud along with some showery light rain will move south overnight. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Sunday:

A rather cloudy start to Sunday, as a band of patchy rain continues to clear south. Brightening up from the north through the afternoon, but a few showers developing. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:

Showery conditions will persist through the period becoming increasingly widespread through early next week. Sunny spells and light winds expected amidst showers. Cooler than recent but pleasant in sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.